

What is the political system of Islam summary?

Traditional political concepts in Islam include leadership by elected or selected successors to Muhammad, known as Caliphs in Sunnī Islam and Imams in Shīʿa Islam; the importance of following the Islamic law (sharīʿa); the duty of rulers to seek consultation (shūrā) from their subjects; and the importance of rebuking ...

What is the Islamic political system caliphate?

A caliphate is an Islamic form of government in which political and religious leadership is united, and the head of state (the caliph) is a successor to the Prophet Muhammad. The first caliphate was established in 632 A.D. after the death of the Prophet Muhammad.05-Jul-2014

What is the concept of state in Islam in political science?

The state in Islam is founded on certain principles which, according to the faith of a Muslim, are laid down in the Qur'an and Sunnah of the Holy Prophet. The first principle is that all authority in the universe vests in Allah, Who is the Omnipotent and Omnipresent Creator of the universe.

What is the name of the Islamic political leader?

Imam. Imam is an Arabic word meaning "Leader". The ruler of a country might be called the Imam, for example. The term, however, has important connotations in the Islamic tradition especially in Shia belief.

What are the characteristics of Islamic state political science?

He established four principles that a true Islamic state must follow: the principle of sovereignty of Allah, the principle of the Prophet's authority, and the principle of a state in which sovereignty would be exercised in the name of Allah and the principle of political consultation system.

What are the features of political administration of Prophet Muhammad?

There was no department of politics and government in which he had not presented a principle or law. Generally, every government performs its best administrative matters through administration, judiciary, and legislature.

Who is the prophet who is known as the world's most social and political reformer?

During all the periods of human history we can not find any other personality alike to our Prophet Mohammad (PBUH). His life is a torchbearer and guidance in our social, political, economic and individual aspects of life